

Amendments to the Specification:

Please amend the specification (paragraph [0010]) as follows:

[0010] Even an interruption of the start-up process, which usually takes approximately one minute, is no problem for the invention, since according to the invention the cold fuel stack can be operated at low load for a ~~during~~ duration of several minutes, which allows three to four successive start-up processes using the method according to the invention.